GOOD INTENTIONS

don't always get good results, also, and Adm. Bob Campbell, the son of the Naval base, tells a story that illustrates the point quite well.

Leaving the Terminal Island base in his car the other day, he spotted a Navy enlisted man standing at the gate where sailors wait for pick-up rides into town.

The admiral stopped and invited the youth aboard. The lad seemed hesitant but Campbell, recognizing the man's name, making him feel, insisted that he get in the car.

They rode along discussing the weather, and the enlisted man talked and headed for town.

"Just where in Long Beach can I drop you?" asked Campbell.

"Well," said the sailor, "I just don't want to go to Long Beach. I live in Redondo Beach and I was waiting back there for my parents to pick me up."

The admiral turned around and raced back to the pick-up point, fortunately reaching it ahead of the youngster's parents.

DINK PLAZA

is the name of Mrs. Ed T. Dickinson's South Linden Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 1100 sq. ft. building, owned by the Long Beach Assessment Co., for picking the monster for the new little park on Ocean Blvd. near Pine Ave.

Mrs. Dickinson and about 1000 other Beachers reading responded to the invitation for the name of the park.

Second prize, $50 bond, goes to Mrs. Kay Brantner, 3847 Chalmers, who proposed the name "Dink Plaza." Albert M. Andrade, 903-A Cypress Ave., gets the $25 third prize for his offering of "Sunshine Park."

Mrs. Dickinson was the only person to submit the winning title. There were others who proposed Sue Bremer and Sunshine, and the prizes went to those whose entries showed the earliest postmark.

Route 8 Buses To Be Deafured

Effective Monday, a portion of Long Beach Motor Bus Company's Easy Awe-Router 8 will operate over a detour for one week because of the repairing of 20th St. between Delta and Easy Awe.

Buses will follow the regular route to 21st and Easy, detour east on 21st to Eshlin, south on Fashion to Summit, west on Summit to Harbor and south on the regular route.

Lectures Today

Manly P. Hall, president of the Philosophy Research Society, will speak on "The Energy Fields in the Human Body" at 11 a. m. today in the Campus Theater, 1029 N. Vermont Ave., Los Angeles.

The lecture is the final one in a series by Hall, a researcher in the field of nuclear education.

Don't Clown in Boats, Chief Says

"Thumbs Down Means Don't Clown" is the slogan of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, designed to make vacation time safer for the 30,000,000 Americans who enjoy boating.

The association, through Police Chief William H. Dooley, Jr., is urging all persons who own small craft to take a few minutes during a gross violation of the rules of the "Thumbs Down" campaign, in an effort to discourage the practice.

DRIFTWOOD

Miss Uilverse is coming up, we're in the season again when the picture of a gal in a bathing suit is so commonplace it gets hardly a second look from the men under 14. And when such figures as '35-25-35 are quoted more often than the price of steel.

Scouts to Leave for Valley Forge

Eighty-two Long Beach Boy Scouts and adult leaders will entrain in Los Angeles Tuesday for the national jamboree to be held July 12-18 at Valley Forge.

Gerald S. Marston, assistant scout executive of the Long Beach Area Council, will make the trip as business manager of the special train, which will carry scouts from five area councils to the national meeting.

Dr. Russell Clark, Long Beach physician, will serve with Marston as a sectional manager of the train.

MOST SCOUTS attending the jamboree are members of Troops 100 and 101, and Troop 13 Scoutmaster Paul Harvey, and assistant scoutmasters Robert Shinn and Don Freyer, and Troop 14 Scoutmaster G. R. Van Dyke, and assistant scoutmasters Richard Wolf and Don O'Neil.

Luxury Liner to Dock Here

The Orient Line's luxuriant Orinda will dock at Long Beach Harbor at 7 a. m. Wednesday, June 26, and will be met by the 2800-ton liner will depart for Australia to Europe.

The 2800-ton liner will dock at pier 62 of her 600 passengers here, before sailing at 3 p. m. The ship will take about 350 southern California passengers for the remainder of her journey.

Commanded by Capt. C. K. Blake O. R. E., the Orinda was built in 1948.

Boy Hunted Nine Days Hanged Self

The body of a 14-year-old boy missing for nine days was found Saturday hanging from a rafter of a garage attic less than a block away from his home.

Police reported the boy missing Thursday, June 23, was Glen Carl Waddell, Jr., 2425 E. Broadway, by his mother, Mrs. Mabel Waddell.

The body of the boy was in the garage attic at 2425 E. 1st St., Dean told police that neighborhood child sometimes played in the attic.

Death of the boy was termed a suicide by police inspector Robert P. Shaw. The boy had looped a length of rope over a rafter and snuck a drawer to stand on. Condition of the body indicated the boy had been dead about nine days.

SINATRA Hires 150-Foot Yacht

Frank Sinatra has chartered the 105-foot yacht education and information on "Climate" and is expected to be distributed among the schools, parent-teachers groups and health and welfare agencies.

A recent mental health study for a party of about 100. Their destination was not disclosed, he said.

Alcoholism 'Workshops' Group's Aim

A two-day conference on California alcoholic problems will be held Friday at Lake Arrowhead.

The conference provides for a $50 fee or six-month fee term for both upon completion.

Swimming Pool Business Making a Big SPLASH!

The swimming pool business is making a bigger splash than ever in Southern California.

A qualified estimate places the number of backyard pools in the Los Angeles-Long Beach area now at between 23,000 and 30,000. And increasing numbers of people each year are getting their feet wet.

In 1946, no more than 2,000 pools existed in the Southwest, nationally considered the home of the privately-owned pool.

This year, about 8,000 new pools will be constructed in the area, according to Phil Anthony, head of Anthony Pools, Inc., of South Gate, biggest pool builder in the nation.

Anthony's firm alone will build 2,000 of them.

The rising standard of living, however, is not solely responsible for all these people getting in the swim.

Modern production, financing and merchandising methods have played a big part.

Modern production, financing and merchandising methods have played a big part.

"You can buy a better pool now for less money than you could in 1946—even with inflation," Anthony says.

Most production of such necessary pool equipment as filters, pumps, diving boards and ladders has reduced the cost.

Production line techniques of pool construction and cheaper methods developed through experience have offset rising costs of labor and materials.

Easy financing—often with no down payment and three to five years to pay—have brought the backyard pool to the average homeowner.

"A lot of people now are specifying a second car to get a pool," says J. P. McNichols, general manager of Hirm Smith Enterprises, Inc. of Long Beach, a pool builder and remodeling firm.

104 Vacancies to Occur on City Boards in July

More than 5,000 youngsters and adults in the Long Beach Unified School District will begin enrolling at 8 a. m. Monday in elementary, junior high, senior high and City College summer classes.

Length of the session will be six weeks for classes from elementary grades through high school and for day classes of the City College Liberal Arts Division.

Derrick Deadline July 23

There will be no extension of time for applicants to file for removal of wooden oil derricks by the July 23 deadline fixed by the Long Beach city ordinance.

Notice to this effect was served Saturday on owners of 13 derricks who have not applied for demolition permits and actually removed the old structures.
